INCENDIARISM SEEMS EVIDENT

Judge Kepoikai's New House
Nearly Lost—Coke's
Good Work.

WAILUKU, Feb. 8.—Judge A. N. Kepoikai came near sustaining a serious loss by fire Thursday night. As he and Mrs. Kepoikai were returning home after a walk early in the evening a light was noticed in their new palatial residence on Main street that is nearing completion. Hurrying home they found that an oil box was blazing in one of the rooms. The alarm was given and assistance rendered and the fire was soon extinguished without doing serious damage before the arrival of the hose cart.

Had the fire not been discovered in time the building would probably have been burned to the ground and while the building is partly insured the loss to the judge would have been between $2500 and $3000.

Judge Kepoikai has exercised the utmost precautions to prevent a fire and has had the shavings swept up each day and how a fire could have been started is a mystery that may not be solved unless the owner of a hat that was found near the blaze will call for his hat and explain how the same originated.

COKE'S TRIP.

A letter received from Attorney James L. Coke under date of January 22 announces that he had completed his work in Washington and would leave that day to visit relatives in North Carolina and Tennessee. While in Washington he appeared before the committee on territories and met with no opposition whatever to the matters he had under consideration.

He was shown every courtesy in the capital and made the acquaintance of Secretary Taft and President Roosevelt, who made many inquiries relative to Hawaii. He was admitted to practise law before the Supreme Court of the United States and intimates that he has had to buy a new hat of larger dimensions than he formerly wore.

ITEMS.

Judge A. N. Kepoikai has withdrawn from active politics and has notified J. D. McVeigh of the Molokai Settlement to that effect. The judge held the proxy of Superintendent McVeigh as a member of the County Central Committee of the Republican party.

Rev. M. G. Santos will conduct memorial services at the Portuguese Protestant church at Paia Sunday in memory of King Carlos and the Crown Prince of Portugal.

INTERESTING ITEMS IN SHANGHAI BUND

The following items from the Shanghai Bund will be of interest to Honoluluans:

William Giles writes from Tientsin that he is now permanently out of the hospital but is obliged to walk with the assistance of crutches. He sends best regards to friends in Shanghai.

And so Frank Brooks says that Lorin Andrews will not return if Judge Wilfley does. Shanghai would certainly be too small to hold the two of them and "Volcano" Marshall at the same time.

Dick Daly will open his new restaurant opposite the race course next Wednesday. Yesterday he was busy putting up an immense range recently received from San Francisco. The apartments in which the new restaurant is located are most commodious; they consist of seven private rooms with a main room which constitutes a kitchen and a dining room all in one. Dick's idea is to permit each customer to choose his own cuts and to leave the entire culinary process open to his public inspection.

You needn't confine your use of a classified ad. to your needs in the servant line; use it for your selling needs, also and note results.

KAANAPALI BOY DIES OF BURNS

He Played With Matches—The Lahaina Schools—Visit of Liliuokalani.

LAHAINA, Feb. 8.—A bright little boy three years old, son of William Robb of Kaanapali, was playing with matches on Thursday and set his clothes on fire. He was so badly burnt that the poor little fellow died the same day.

CATHOLIC SCHOOLS.

Father Joseph arrived at Lahaina Friday night from Honolulu. He will stay with Father Maurus till Monday morning and then go to Wailuku. Father Joseph, like Father Maurus, is an optimist who has a cheering word and a smile for everyone. He is inspecting all the Catholic missions of Maui.

IMPROVEMENT.

The Lahaina Improvement Association met Saturday evening to amend their constitution. This association is very active, encouraged by the Mission Board, Mrs. Campbell-Parker and others who are taking an interest in Lahaina.

THE QUEEN'S VISIT.

The friends of Queen Liliuokalani say that she will make a lengthened visit at Lahaina when she returns from Kona. They hope within a year or so to have her here almost permanently.

SCHOOLS DO WELL.

The two thousand pineapple plants of the Lahaina school look fine. Two of the Lahaina school teachers visited the kindergarten school on Thursday and they speak very highly of the work done there.

The Lahaina school has three hundred pupils and is much in need of another teacher.

GUARDS DRILLING.

The members of the Wailuku N. G. H. company who live in Lahaina have been drilling some lately.

THE WEDDING OF GLADYS VANDERBILT

NEW YORK, January 27.—Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, the youngest child of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, was married at noon today to Count Laszlo Szechenyi. She is the first American woman to acquire a Hungarian title. The wedding was more elaborate and splendid than any that has taken place in New York in recent years. It vied with the wedding of Consuelo Vanderbilt and the Duke of Marlborough, and eclipsed that of Anna Gould and Count Boni de Castellane.

Notwithstanding the magnificence of the affair the marriage had the element of simplicity joined with stately dignity. There was no repetition of the disgraceful street scenes which have been enacted at other prominent New York weddings, notably that of Miss May Golet to the Duke of Roxburghe in 1903. While thousands at one time gathered outside the huge Vanderbilt mansion on Fifth avenue and Fifty-eighth street, the police officers, of whom more than 100 were on guard, had no difficulty with the throng, which showed only a comparatively mild interest in the proceedings and did not endeavor to crush forward to points to which the public were forbidden to go.

What also served to prevent the crush and confusion was that the number of invited guests was quite limited. The number was actually small considering Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt's extensive visiting list. About 300 persons, relatives of the contracting parties and intimate friends, witnessed the ceremony.

Some of those known on the Pacific Coast whose names are on the roll of the guests were Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt Jr., Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Mackay, Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Oelrichs, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, Miss Harriet Alexander, Misses Mary and Cornelia Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills, Miss Beatrice Mills, Miss Jean Reid and Ogden Mills Reid.

One of the most expensive of the many rich gifts showered on the bride was a jeweled ring given by Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt Jr.

The Hungarian uniforms of red and gold, which were worn by the groom's countrymen, added to the brilliancy of the scene in the palatial house, which was decorated with innumerable flowers and where countless electric bulbs glowed among the blossoms. Beautiful costumes and costly jewels were worn by the women in the gathering. The bright uniform of Count Szechenyi's Austrian and Hungarian friends contrasted with the black frock coats of the Americans. Many of the foreigners wore knee breeches, and it had been suggested that the Americans, following the custom of European courts, should wear a similar garb. The members of the Vanderbilt family drew the line at that, however, and wore conventional afternoon clothes.

Of all the guests present the foreigners seemed to enjoy themselves most. They were full of life and gaiety at the wedding breakfast, which immediately followed the marriage ceremony, and quaffed uncounted bumpers to the health of the Count and Countess.

One fact which was taken for granted was that Cornelius Vanderbilt had been restored to his place as the head of the family when he entered with his sister to place her hand in Count Szechenyi's. He hurried away after the ceremony without waiting for the breakfast, but that was because he had to depart for Philadelphia to keep a long-standing promise to attend the wedding of a friend there.

JUDGE WILFLEY TALKS ABOUT HIS MISSION

Washington Star, Jan. 14.—Judge Lebbeus R. Wilfley of the United States district court in China has arrived in Washington, and says he is prepared to meet any and all persons who desire to question his administration of justice in the new court at Shanghai. The judge called at the State and War departments today to talk with the officials about his court. He was very much more concerned over the needs of the new tribunal in the matter of additional laws and a proper habitation than over the charges preferred against him. He said he knew that Judge Andrews and Mr. Brooks, both members of the bar in Shanghai, had addressed themselves directly to the President in opposition to his administration of the court, but he felt satisfied, he said, to let the President and Secretary Root dispose of any charges that might be preferred against him entirely upon the basis of the court's record.

The purpose of Judge Wilfley's visit to Washington, according to his own statement, was not to defend himself against charges, because these had already been thoroughly exploited and thrashed out. What he did desire, he said, was to secure congressional authorization for the adoption by his court of the California code as a basis of judicial procedure. For a year the court has been working along entirely under the common law, good enough in itself, but entirely inadequate and too archaic to meet modern conditions. As appeals from his court would lie to the California court it would be in the interest of simplicity and expedite business to have its procedure based upon the same code.

Judge Wilfley also declared that the court was very insufficiently housed, and will endeavor to interest Secretary Root in the proposition to erect a courthouse in Shanghai for its accommodation.

A TRAVELER'S PRAISE OF HAWAIIAN ISLES

Boston Watchman.—I have traveled over practically all of the United States and over most of Europe. Nowhere have I enjoyed, in one place, such a combination of beautiful scenery, delightful climate, productiveness of soil and such possibilities for the accumulation of wealth. The isolation of the islands is one of its chief attractions to one seeking either health, enjoyment or employment. It is a relief to escape the torturing bustle and friction of the mainland and to find quiet and opportunity for thought and rest and communion with one's self afforded by these islands. Nowhere in the world have I seen such blending of coloring or such variety of scenery in mountain, valley and ocean. Nowhere have I known such uniformity and delightfulness of climate, and nowhere more profusion of flowers and rich tropical vegetation. It is a land of beauty and should give to the world a race of artists and poets.

One of the features of special advantage is the intermingling of so many diverse races in such friendly and mutually helpful relations, and not the least important consideration attaching to the island is the fact that they occupy a strategic, convergent place in the Pacific, rendering them a key to commercial and political power. It was a great day for the United States when they were acquired. Our government cannot overestimate the importance of thoroughly fortifying them. When their beauties and advantages are understood, I can see there will be a constant stream of visitors and homeseekers to them.

I have traveled from Honolulu to Haleiwa, through sugar and pineapple plantations, without limit, and have been everywhere impressed with the beauty of the scenery, the glories of the climate and the exhaustless possibility of the soil.

Seats go on sale this morning at nine o'clock at Wall, Nichols Co. for the Hawaiian moving picture performance in the Opera House next Saturday evening. To obtain good seats it would be well to get in line early, as there has been a big demand the last week for seats, but none have been reserved as yet and will not be until nine this morning.
